Heavy Arab-Jew Fighting Rages as Truce End Nears

For over three decades, bloodshed has taken place intermittently and British troops have been among the participants. The war goes on today—despite a truce—while the British have evacuated their last soldier from the ravaged Holy Land. Prime Minister David Ben Gurion of Israel (arrow) watches as the last British soldier (left) leaves Haifa.

Meanderings

By Wash Fayette

One more example of how well the Associated Press covers the news for the Record-Herald was given on page one of Saturday's edition.

An AP story from Washington told of the arrival of 26 Fayette County high school students for the Washington Monument Centennial celebration.

That story was requested by the Record-Herald. Eli Craig, chaperon of the group, told I. J. Patrick to whom I got out of the cab at the Hotel Raleigh was an AP reporter."

His article was received in plenty of time for Saturday's issue. A copy of the edition was airmailed to Craig, so he and the remainder of the party could see how the newspaper published the news of the Washington arrival.

Remember that little yarn about the Fayette County farmer who had so many baby skunks playing about his premises that he called upon the game protector to take charge of the litter?

I heard of the affair when six of the little wood-kitties had appeared on his premises, after their mother had been killed by an automobile. I thought the six was a pretty good litter.

However, I. J. Patrick, the game protector, had picked up the six kittens, another appeared, and he was called back for the seventh member of the litter. The next day the eighth member of the skunk family crawled from under a building, and once more Patrick was called and took charge of the unwanted little skunks.

Eight skunks in one litter is an unusually large number, and it is little wonder that the skunk tribe continues to flourish in the face of being much hunted for its fine fur.

U. S. Rejects Polish Protest on Germany

WASHINGTON, July 7—(AP)—The United States today rejected Poland's protest against policies of the western powers in Germany. It advised Poland to complain to Russia if dissatisfied with the way things are going in Europe.

Undersecretary of State Robert A. Lovett told Polish Ambassador Josef Winiewicz:

"If certain countries... claim that their interests are not sufficiently taken into account by the program planned for western Germany, their complaint should not be addressed to the United States government but to the government primarily responsible for preventing these countries from cooperating in the general recovery program for Europe."

Kids Hate School, So They Burn It

HARRISON, N. Y., July 7—(AP)—Two grade school boys have been ordered to appear in Westchester County children's court today on charges they tried to burn down the building where they go to school.

Detectives quoted the boys, aged 9 and 11, with saying they started the fire, which Sunday night caused $4,000 damage, because "we wanted to be sure we wouldn't have a school to go back to in the fall."

President Delays Arrival

Capital Excursionists Back Home

President Harry S. Truman delayed the return of 28 Fayette Countians from the nation's capital Tuesday evening.

Actually it wasn't the president himself, but the presidential special returning from Bolivar, Mo., where Mr. Truman participated in dedication of a statue to the South American liberator, Simon Bolivar.

The train, carrying 26 students and two chaperones, was delayed at Clarksburg, W. Va., for 24 minutes before the special went by.

Chaperoning the group were Eli Craig, president of the Young Business Men's Committee of the Chamber of Commerce, and Miss

CAIRO, July 7—(AP)—Heavy Jewish-Arab fighting raged along the main Tel Aviv-Haifa highway last night as the United Nations made 11th hour efforts to extend the shaky Palestine truce.

Count Folke Bernadotte, UN Palestine mediator, told newsmen in Cairo that he will continue peace talks, even if his request for an extension of the four-week truce is rejected. Earlier at a conference in Tel Aviv Bernadotte said he did not know whether Arabs and Jews would agree to an extension, but added he was hopeful.

The truce ends Friday. Neither Arabs nor Jews have replied to UN extension requests.

There was no official indication as to how seriously Jewish authorities considered the highway clash which occurred in Israeli territory between Tira and Jaba, about 10 miles south of Haifa. Telephone lines between Tel Aviv and Haifa were cut off during the night.

Two American marines driving UN truce team trucks were turned back by Arabs who fired on them for 40 minutes before they waved a white flag to stop the shooting.

ARABS WALK OUT

LAKE SUCCESS, July 7—(AP)

—The representative of the Arab higher committee today "walked out" of United Nations security council discussions on Palestine.

The Arab representative, Jamal

Husseini, announced he was withdrawing in protest over action of this month's council president, Dimitri Z. Manuilsky of the Soviet Ukraine.

Husseini objected vigorously to Manuilsky's insistence on designating Aubrey S. Eban as representative of Israel and not as representative of the Jewish agency.

His walkout came after a lengthy wrangle which delayed debate on a move to extend the Palestine truce.

The British, meanwhile, circulated a formal proposal to address an urgent appeal to the Jews and Arabs to prolong their four-weeks truce which expires

Strike Spreads In Coal Fields

Court Action May End 'Captive' Walkout

PITTSBURGH, July 7—(AP)—Sympathy strikes in commercial soft coal mines spread today in western Pennsylvania while the nation's bituminous industry waited possible court action at Washington in the two-day shutdown in steel company owned "captive" pits.

Three new walkouts were noted in the Pittsburgh district's commercial mines as diggers stopped work in sympathy. Over the nation, nearly one-fourth of the 400,000 soft coal miners were away from their jobs.

About 40,000 of the idle were miners in the steel company owned "captive" pits. They declined to work without a contract.

The steel companies did not sign the new United Mine Workers wage agreement because of its union shop clause.

Another 51,000 commercial miners in western Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Indiana stayed away from work yesterday as the 10-day mine vacation ended.

West Virginia UMW leaders said the 35,000 commercial miners idle in that state were merely slow in starting back after the vacation period.

War Plants Go Back on Reserve List

WASHINGTON, July 7—(AP)—Three Ohio war plants today were listed for immediate reserve status under a new law authorizing a national source of productive capacity for defense.

The PBY which picked them up at sea took off immediately for Chicago. Commander Richard Mellon of the Traverse City Coast Guard Station said they would be taken to the Marine Hospital in Chicago.

The oil-laden ship, owned by the Cleveland Tanker Co., was rocked by a blast when it was 10 miles off Pt. Sable, about 23 miles southwest of Ludington.

One picket boat and one lifeboat rushed from the Ludington coast guard station to aid the stricken vessel. The cutter Sundew, in Milwaukee, also answered this terse SOS from the tanker:

"We are on fire. Engine stopped. Five men need to be taken off. One man has broken leg."

The steamer Francis E. House of the Pittsburgh Steamship Co. stood by in case it could render aid.

A second plane was being readied at the Traverse City station for a flight to the scene.

Coast guard reports indicated, however, that those still aboard would be safe until rescue boats arrived.

Marriage and Money Blamed for Suicide

HOLLYWOOD, July 7—(AP)—Speculation continued today on what caused screen glamor girl Carole Landis to commit suicide.

Friends and relatives blame an unhappy married life and financial troubles, at least in part.

But her fourth husband, W. Horace Schmidlapp, flew in from Chicago yesterday to say he could see no reason for her to take her own life. He claimed she was "all right" financially.

The 29-year-old blond actress fled suit for divorce against Schmidlapp last March 22, charging extreme mental cruelty.

Her mother, Mrs. Clara Landis, said "Carole was deep in financial trouble. She had sold her house, her car—but things still piled up. She told me not long ago and with bitterness: 'Marry a rich man and support yourself!'"

President Harry S. Truman delayed the return of 28 Fayette Countians from the nation's capital Tuesday evening.

Actually it wasn't the president himself, but the presidential special returning from Bolivar, Mo., where Mr. Truman participated in dedication of a statue to the South American liberator, Simon Bolivar.

The entire group of 28, tired but happy climbed off the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad's crack Cincinnati after the all-day journey from Washington. Many points of interest on the B&O main line, including Harper's Ferry, W. Va., were seen.

Chaperoning the group were Eli Craig, president of the Young Business Men's Committee of the Chamber of Commerce, and Miss

Vitamin Plant Blast Kills 2 in Seattle

SEATTLE, July 7—(AP)—A $350,000 vitamin plant in northwest Seattle looked like a stepped-on apple box today—ripped by an explosion and scorched by fire that killed two men, injured one critically and left three unaccounted for.

At 5:35 P. M. (PDT) yesterday—half an hour after 40 to 50 workers had completed their shift—the Lyle Branchflower Company's fish processing plant blew up. Store windows were smashed in the nearby Ballard community and homes four miles away were shaken.

O. E. Ericksson, assistant manager, said the cause of the blast was not known.

Addition Is Planned To Marion Institution

COLUMBUS, July 7—(AP)—State Welfare Director Charles L. Sherrwood today announced the release of $96,000 by the state controlling board for the construction of an addition to the Marion Boys' Industrial School.

He said the money was part of a $100,000 appropriation voted the welfare department by the general assembly last December.

President Harry S. Truman delayed the return of 28 Fayette Countians from the nation's capital Tuesday evening.

Benes Cheered In Prague

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia, July 7—(AP)—Former President Eduard Benes was cheered again today in the streets of Prague. This time police squads broke up the short-lived demonstration.

Most of the crowd massed in front of the newspaper Svobodne Slovo beneath a huge electric display for the 11th Sokol Congress, and shouted "Long live our President Benes."

Police ordered the demonstrators to disperse. When this failed, they moved through the crowd, arms linked. Some police carried small pistols as usual, but no weapons were used. Prague police do not carry clubs.

At the same time, government spokesmen said, the best national troops were engaged in other battles or racing for Kaifeng, 300 miles away, in an effort to beat Communist columns to that strategic point.

One aim, it is, is standardizing products and spurring production.

China Reds Thrust At Nanking Area

NANKING, July 7—(AP)—Chinese Red troops, in swift moves from the plains of Honan, threatened Nanking's perimeter of defense today. Two forces reached points 100 miles from the capital.

At the same time, government spokesmen said, the best national troops were engaged in other battles or racing for Kaifeng, 300 miles away, in an effort to beat Communist columns to that strategic point.

"Starting from the fact that Berlin lies in the eastern zone and is tied very closely to its economy, the Berlin unit of the SED has worked out a two-year plan aimed at systematically incorporating Berlin's economy into that of the eastern zone."

One aim, it is, is standardizing products and spurring production.

Pet Pup in Housing Project Puts Tenant in the Doghouse

ZANESVILLE July 7—(AP)—Babe—a pet Pomeranian—was the center of an anti-pet issue today which threatened to evict her and her master from a federal housing development.

It happened that Babe—valued at more than a thousand dollars by her master, Theodore M. Harsch, is regarded as undesirable tenant of Coopermill Manor, the development.

Director Herman F. McCallister said other tenants find other homes for their pets. It's either get rid of them or move, explained McCallister.

ing project. The rule, McCallister explained, is an old one which has not been enforced lately, but which he intends to make effective.

Said Harsch:

"I wouldn't take a thousand dollars for Babe. And I'm not going to get rid of her. If other people in Zanesville outside the manor can have dogs, so can we."

McCallister said other tenants find other homes for their pets. It's either get rid of them or move, explained McCallister.

Prayer Raises Ire Of N. Y. Council

NEW YORK, July 7—(AP)—A prayer caused a flurry of argument in New York City's council yesterday.

Two councilmen, Benjamin J. Davis, Manhattan Communist, and Eugene P. Connolly, American Labor Party member, protested the inclusion of the invocation prayer in the minutes of the council meeting.

In the prayer, 74-year-old Methodist pastor, Rev. Dr. George Albert Simons, had expressed hope that "atheistic, Marxist communism" would never threaten New York City.

The council voted 14 to 2 to include the prayer in the record.

Military Leave From Employers Is Sought Here

Guard and Reserves Are Backing Program Outlined by Army

All employers in Fayette County will be approached soon and asked to participate in a program under which their employees subject to military service will be given leaves of absence in addition to regular vacations.

The canvassing of employers will be done by representatives of the Ohio National Guard and the Reserve Officers Association, in conjunction with the Washington C. H. Chamber of Commerce.

A joint committee of the Ohio Department of the Reserve Officers Association and the National Guard Association has met with the executive secretaries of the Ohio Chamber of Commerce, the Ohio Manufacturer's Association and the Industrial Association and they have agreed to inform the membership of their respective associations concerning the campaign.

Captain Darrell Williams, commander of Co. M, 167th Infantry, Ohio National Guard, and Lt. Richard Steen, representative of the Reserve Officers Association and the executive officer of the 43rd Composite Battalion (including Clinton and Fayette Counties), in cooperation with Fred Rost, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, will direct the canvassing in Fayette County.

Nationwide Program

The program is not all local. Employers throughout the nation are being asked to give attention to the determination of leave policies for the employees enrolled in the reserve armed forces. Last week the army asked business men to consider the leave situation.

Brig. Gen. Wendell Westover, chief of the army's Reserve Affairs Bureau, said American employers could help the defense program by assuring workers that their jobs would be waiting when they returned from duty.

He said many workers were hesitant to leave a job because of the uncertainty of getting it back.

Major John P. Case, president of the Tri-County Chapter of the ROA last year and commanding officer of the 43rd Composite Battalion, said, "The international situation, as progressed since V-J Day, makes it necessary for all business men to join in the national defense program. The reserve forces are the backbone of any national defense program, and if these forces are of any value at all, they must be trained."

"The best training they can get is made available by the government. All patriotic business should be willing to cooperate with the Ohio National Guard and the Reserve Officers Association in certifying their willingness to participate in the program."

Local Industry Aids

Over a period of years, the principal industries in Washington C. H. have gone along 100 percent in cooperating with armed services training programs, Chamber of Commerce Secretary Fred Rost said.

The Fayette Countians subject to military leave include more than 60 officers and enlisted men in Co. M, and a portion of the 250 men in the 43rd Composite Battalion, which also includes Clinton County.

National Defense Certificates will be presented to employers participating in the program, Maj. Case said. The certificates read "... is commended for its cooperation with the National Guard and the Reserve Officers Association of Ohio in granting approved military training leave to its employees in addition to regular vacations." It will be signed by the state presidents of both organizations.

Capt. Williams stressed that all employers will be asked to participate—not only those who now have men subject to periodic military duty, but also those who may employ men in that status at some future time.

Under an Ohio statute, all officers and employees of the state or political subdivisions who are members of any of the reserve components of the armed services, are entitled to leaves of absence from their duties without loss of pay for a period not to exceed 31 days in any calendar year.

Mainly About People

Mrs. Samuel Minshall, 607 Campbell Street, is reported as confined to her bed with a serious heart ailment.

Friends of Mrs. Frank Baker will be glad to learn that she is recovering nicely in Mt. Carmel Hospital Columbus, from a recent major operation.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Merritt, 503 Gibbs Avenue are the parents of six pound son, Stephen Phillip, born Monday in White Cross Hospital Columbus.

Mrs. Vernon Mason was returned to her home in Jeffersonville Tuesday evening from White Cross Hospital Columbus, where she underwent a major operation recently.

Mrs. Mary Lou Locke was taken from her home 619 Sycamore Street, to University Hospital, Columbus, for observation and treatment Tuesday, and returned in the Gerstner ambulance.

Mrs. Ed Barnes and infant daughter Mary Kay were brought from Mt. Carmel Hospital, Columbus, to their home 622 Sycamore Street Tuesday afternoon in the Cox and Parrett ambulance.

charging Albanian authorities with insulting Tito's regime.

Polish Communist leaders in Warsaw approved unanimously the Cominform's censure of Tito. The Polish government appeared to regard the Cominform's rift with the Yugoslavs as purely a party matter.

The Cominform early last week accused Tito and his aides of deviating from Marxism and of pursuing a hateful policy toward Russia. Yugoslav Communists noisily defended themselves and kept up a running fire of reports for Tito from Communist elements within Yugoslavia and from the nation's diplomats abroad.

PLENTY OF RUMORS
WASHINGTON, July 7—(AP)—The wave of Nationalist feeling sweeping eastern Europe has spurred a flood of rumors about possible drastic moves by the Russians to tighten their hold over the satellite countries.

These rumors include unconfirmed reports of Soviet troop movements in Romania and Bulgaria toward the Yugoslav border. They also disclose a revival in Europe of the old speculation that Russia may try (A) to annex Romania and Bulgaria as Soviet republics and (B) to put the Red army back into Czechoslovakia, from which it withdrew at the end of the war.

About the most that can be said for the rumors at the moment is that they are receiving careful study at the state department and national defense establishment.

The Nation Today

BY JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON, July 7—(AP)—
Television should teach the politicians a lesson but it will take them time to learn it.

That's why the Democratic convention in Philadelphia next week will be pretty much like the Republican convention there two weeks ago.

There'll be the same long speeches, the same hoopla demonstrations intended to show the great joy of the delegates, or something.

And the endless hours will drag by, hours that could be packed with action to get the convention over and done with.

Television gives the politicians a problem they never had before.

Until television came, whatever they did was seen only by a few thousand of themselves, a sort of in-the-family affair.

Now the whole nation will be looking at their every word and gesture on an ice-cold television screen that makes the most rosy-cheeked politician look gray.

Here's an example of what's meant:

When a bullthroated orator shouts for 15 or 30 minutes—rolling his eyes, waving his arms, rocking and weaving and brushing back the hair that's fallen in his eyes—he may affect the delegates because he's near them, in the flesh.

But that same speaker—on the gray glass of television, yelling at a farmer 2,000 miles away—may seem like a ghostly windbag without sense or dignity.

The Republican convention started on Monday and ended on Friday. It could have been ended in two days or so, instead of five.

The Democratic convention will start on Monday—July 12—and probably end up on Friday. It, too, could be wrapped up in a couple of days. For example:

Instead of starting at 9 A. M., the Republican convention got under way around noon.

After a couple of hours of speeches and business the first three days, it recessed until 9 A. M., for more speeches, instead of going right on.

This was all right for them, since they were the ones enduring it and they knew they were trapped when they started.

And nobody except themselves, and their friends and relatives in the galleries, saw what was happening or took part in it.

Soon the whole nation can sit in its living room and watch the performance on a television screen, passing judgement.

Throwing a convention in the face of the nation, by way of the television screen, for five days is asking for a lot of patience.

As they're arranged now, the convention speeches and demonstrations do if they turn a television audience away in disgust or boredom?

They may lose plenty of votes, since it's the audience that's going to do the voting.

Greenfield Will Have Meters

Following closely on the heels of Hillsboro, Greenfield council has voted to advertise for bids for parking meters, and indications are that meters will be installed in that town within the next month.

Hillsboro is now installing meters. Both towns are among the last in this part of Ohio to install meters.

Let our experts show you how much more detail and beauty there is in one of our enlargements.

You'll want them for your album as well as for framing or mounting. Prompt service on all orders.

National Guard Activities for New Year Begin

Cleaning of Weapons Starts Activities For 1948-1949 Period

Activities of Company M, 166th Infantry, got under way for the 1948-49 fiscal year Tuesday evening.

After a lapse of several weeks, the national guard unit began its program of building up a civilian army unit in Washington C. H., made up of men from the Fayette County area.

Company members who went to the first drill found their duties cut out for them immediately upon arrival.

They had to clean weapons, one of the menial tasks which has caused many a soldier to abuse the English language. The company members present cleaned four new machine guns, two mortars, carbines and bazookas shipped in for service by the heavy weapons unit.

The entire truckload of equipment was received "just in time" for the drill, according to Captain Darrell Williams, commanding officer.

He promised future drills will be more interesting to the men of the company. Capt. Williams is preparing the unit for participation in the national guard camp at Camp Atterbury, Columbus Ind., August 15 to 29.

The captain announced transportation arrangements to men of the company at the drill.

A special train, originating at Washington C. H., and scheduled to operate via Columbus, will carry members of the unit to Camp Atterbury. Baggage cars and coaches will be what the train consist of, Capt. Williams said.

Present plans call for an advance party to travel by truck to the Indiana training reservation a few days prior to the rail movement of the other company members.

Capt. Williams said some enlistments still may be made under some circumstances in the guard company.

Except for veterans of World War II, the enlistment rolls are closed to men 18½ to 26 years of age. Men under 18½ and those over 26 are eligible for enrollment in the guard unit, Williams declared.

Once a portion of the 37th Infantry Division, the 166th Infantry Regiment now forms the infantry unit of a separate regimental combat team.

Creek Swimmers Given Warning

Dangers Pointed Out By Health Officer

Swimming in creeks of Fayette County is dangerous to health and safety, Dr. Gordon E. Savage, health commissioner, warned Tuesday.

In Dr. Savage's opinion, "no creeks in the county are safe for swimming."

Those who do swim in the creeks are taking serious chances of contracting typhoid fever or intestinal disorders, the commissioner said.

This, he added, is due to the effluent from septic tanks and pollution due to outdoor privies in rural areas of the county.

Particular danger is present in some areas where the water is deep and murky. A rescue would be almost impossible in such areas, Dr. Savage said, because any youngster who sank in the water could not be seen by his fellow swimmers.

One such dangerous spot is in Paint Creek near Washington Cemetery, Dr. Savage declared.

He urged those who can to take advantage of trips—organized or individually—to safe swimming tanks in such communities as London, Circleville or Xenia.

Dr. Savage said the same swimming danger holds true in streams of Greene County as in Fayette County. The doctor is health commissioner also of Greene County.

Present plans call for an advance party to travel by truck to the Indiana training reservation a few days prior to the rail movement of the other company members.

They may lose plenty of votes, since it's the audience that's going to do the voting.

Dam on Rocky Fork Planned For Next Year

More Funds Required To Complete Work In Highland

Fayette Countians who have been looking forward to swimming, boating and fishing in Rocky Fork Lake in Highland County, must again postpone this pleasure awhile longer, due to the fact that construction of the dam will not start until next year, according to an announcement made by H. A. Rider, State Conservation Commissioner, following a conference with the Rocky Fork Lake Committee of Highland County.

The dam, when built, is to be located upstream a short distance from McCoppin's or the Foreaker Mill, which is located a few miles southwest of Rainsboro.

Work of clearing the site of the lake is now under way, and most of the timber will be removed by next fall, and everything placed in readiness for work on the big dam.

Commissioner Rider stated that engineers declare the building will be quite simple, since no large amount of earth will have to be moved as the dam will reach from one side of the limestone gorge to the other.

It will be of steel and concrete construction, and can be built within a few months at the most.

The dam was to have been constructed this year, but lack of funds made it necessary to carry it over for another year.

The state legislature appropriated $400,000 toward the project. It was necessary to secure $93,000 from the state emergency fund to complete purchase of the land. The state now owns over 3,500 acres for which it paid $493,000. More land was needed for the lake than at first contemplated. When the appropriation was made prices in general were much lower than at the present time.

Legislative leaders indicate when the first appropriation was made that additional funds would be provided, if necessary, to complete the project. The Rocky Fork Lake will be one of the major lakes in Ohio, water covering some 2,200 acres of land. When completed the lake will have public docks, will be landscaped, parks and playgrounds provided and black top roads built to handle heavy traffic.

Army engineers are still interested in the project but they will

A Downhill Spiral That Means Real Danger

Here in Fayette County we have had many warnings with reference to the vital need for soil conservation. Many of our farmers have profited from these talks.

Men of knowledge and character who are looking into the future, have appeared at club and agricultural gatherings here and elsewhere to tell of the hazards that too many land owners are overlooking in the depreciation and loss of good soil. All over the country these warnings are being sounded but far too many owners laugh off these urgent words of caution on the assumption that danger is a long way off and "let somebody else worry about the future".

A national conference on land-use policy, the first meeting of its kind and magnitude that has occurred in our history, was held a few weeks ago in a large western city.

It was attended by businessmen of all kinds, agricultural experts, government officials, public utility executives, and others. While it didn't make dramatic headline news, it dealt with a problem which concerns the survival and existence of the United States—the fact that our soil resources are wasting away at an appalling rate.

Fairfield Osborn, president of the Conservation Foundation, touched the keynote at this national meeting when he said, "We are face to face with the fact that we have been traveling the wrong road—that America is riding the downhill spiral—that we have to get on the right road or else the future of our country will be violently imperiled."

The United States has 1,000,000,000 acres of farm croplands, open grazing lands and farm pasturelands. More than 250,000,000 of those acres have already been ruined or severely impoverished, and the rest have been damaged to some degree. In the last 36 years alone, the nation's "woodpile" has declined by 44 percent, according to Mr. Osborn. The effect of this on our water sources—which are the arteries of our life as a people—is evident almost everywhere. Many rivers have declined in flow. And the underground water table, which supports whole regions, is steadily falling at critical point after critical point.

All of us have read about the government's enormously costly flood control work—work which is supposed to protect our arable land. But it is now becoming evident that the politicians have, in many instances, sold the people a bill of goods.

Real flood control—like real conservation—lies in the complex field of scientific land used by land owners. That means that floods must be controlled in the headwaters and the valleys, where their damage to the soil is greatest. It means that we must develop and plow and cultivate our agricultural land so that the water does not carry off the top soil.

America can become a desert. It will, in the course of time, unless the nation moves to save its land and water resources. The hopeful sign is that men who have no political axe to grind or political cause to serve, who are interested only in the future welfare of the nation, are organizing to do this tremendous job.

For the first time in history a woman has been called upon to deliver the daily opening prayer in the House of Representatives. Considering that the House proceedings do not always indicate that the prayers of the male chaplains have been answered, it may be well to see what a woman can do.

Diplomatically she brought up the possibility of arranging a meeting with the father.

"What is he like—my father?" The daughter asked. "I don't remember him. As a girl in the orphans' home I used to wonder about him."

The old man left the hospital shortly afterward. A few days later the lady noticed his name again on a roster of new mental patients. But the age was much younger.

Curious, she went to see the patient. He was in his twenties, but bore such a strong resemblance to the older man that she was certain immediately he was a son.

She tried to talk to him, but his mind was deep behind the velvet curtain that cloaks the schizophrenic from reality. She checked his record and found that a sister was listed as his closest relative.

Excited at the possibility of reuniting the family, she got in touch with the sister. A short talk with the woman convinced her that she really had found the son and daughter of the old man.

The Government Lets Us Know

The State Department has recently published a long document showing Soviet Russian violations of existing treaties. On the question of Germany there have been 10 violations; with regard to Austria seven; and so it goes covering Poland, Hungary, Rumania, Korea and Manchuria.

This is a late day for the State Department to make a noise about such violations, but the American people ought to be thankful that their government has at last taken them into its confidence. For a long time, there has been speculation as to what has been going on, but information has been scant. This, for instance, is a sample: In the agreements concerning Germany, the following appears:

Glandular Fever Reported Increasing

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

TWENTY years ago, cases of infectious mononucleosis or glandular fever, were either seldom seen or more likely seldom diagnosed. It was only shortly before that time this disease was first described. Today, this illness appears to be on the increase, occurring both in single, scattered cases and in epidemic form. Though chiefly attacking children and young adults, it can occur at any age.

This disease is evidently due to some infection, probably with a virus. As yet there is little evidence to show how it is spread. There is some indication that it may enter the body through the throat and spread from there to the lymph glands in the neck, and thence to those in other parts of the body. Symptoms usually develop within from five to 15 days after the virus enters the body.

White Blood Cells

In most patients with this condition, at first there is an increase in the count of white blood cells, known as the polymorphonuclear cells. Later, there is an increase in the type known as lymphocytes.

In most cases, the disease runs a mild course, with complete recovery in about six weeks, except in those instances in which some secondary infection occurs.

Unfortunately, there is still no satisfactory treatment. Sulfa-mide drugs and penicillin have been employed but apparently with no great benefit. The giving of blood serum also doesn't seem to have any great value. Of course, the penicillin may be helpful in cases with complications.

The patient with infectious mononucleosis should be kept at rest in bed and given a well-balanced diet and plenty of fluids during an attack.

Several Types

Apparently there are several types of infectious mononucleosis. One, known as the glandular type, is most common in children. The outstanding symptom is the enlargement of the lymph glands in various parts of the body, especially of the neck.

In adolescents or young adults, there is inflammation of the membranes of the throat. In adults, fever is the most noteworthy symptom. In the latter, the lymph glands may or may not be enlarged and there is little or no inflammation of the throat. A diagnosis is often difficult to make in the adult because of lack of symptoms.

In over half of the patients, there is enlargement of the spleen located in the upper part of the abdomen. Sometimes there is also tenderness of the spleen. It is not unusual for abdominal pain to be present. The pain is probably due to swelling of the lymph glands within the abdomen. Often, there may be a skin rash made up of red spots like those which occur in measles.

QUESTION AND ANSWERS

G. B. C.: Can breast cancer be present without any lump or pain?

Answer: A breast cancer could be present without pain. In practically all instances there is a swelling or lump.

Any suspicion of cancer calls for an immediate examination by a physician.

Police Seek Clues In Mansfield Blast

MANSFIELD, July 7—(AP)—Police today still were seeking clues in the bombing of the Crescent Cafe, in which two policemen and two firemen were injured.

They have reported no luck. The bomb exploded about 2 A. M. yesterday as the policemen and firemen were trying to pull it, with a pole and hook, into a tub of water. It wrecked the rear of the restaurant and shook the business district.

Yugoslavs Support Tito Government

BELGRADE, July 7—(AP)—Yugoslavs were reported today to have given evidence of support for Premier Marshall Tito, who has been denounced by the Soviet controlled Cominform.

The Yugoslav Communist newspaper Borba said last night that in five days the public subscribed $50,000,000 of the $70,000,000 national loan.

Other press accounts said local committees of the Communist party all over the country are sending messages to Belgrade that they are "with the Marshal." The national organization of war invalids resolved that its members will renew their efforts toward helping build socialism under Tito.

They have reported no luck.

Meat Packing Is Described To Rotarians

Government Shifts Inspectors Regularly, Frank Jean Reports

A vocational talk on meat packing highlighted the weekly meeting of the Washington C. H. Rotary Club at the Country Club Tuesday noon.

Introduced by Ray Brandenburg, the program chairman for July, Frank Jean pointed out that meat forms the basis of every good menu and it is interesting to know how it is processed. He described the slaughtering and packing of different animals and said that after slaughtering, the carcass must be thoroughly chilled before it is cut up and made ready for the markets.

Meat is classified into four divisions—choice, good, commercial, and utility, Jean said. The gradings are based on four inspection points, which are: confirmation, that is, how the animal is filled out; finish, the amount of fat covering the carcass; quality, which includes the amount of fat and the color; and age, which is determined from the "buttons" on the chine bone.

The processing of hams and bacon is done scientifically to guarantee that all of the germs have been killed. All meat is carefully inspected, Jean said, by government inspectors.

In order to keep the inspectors from becoming biased toward any packer, the government moves them around frequently. The inspectors are not allowed to associate with employees. Their only concern is public health, Jean said, not the price of the meat.

Important by-products are also obtained from the meat industry, Jean asserted. Among them are leather, gelatin, glycerine, glue, tankage, meat scraps, fertilizer and grease for soap.

He warned against two prevalent diseases which are caused by eating uncooked, uncooked or poorly cooked meat. They are trichinosis and undulant fever. Proper cooking and inspection will protect the user from those diseases, Jean said.

The club secretary, Ed Moser, presided over the business meeting in the absence of the president, Rev. John K. Abernethy. Guests were present from Greenfield and two Rotarians who have been on long vacations were also present. They were M. J. Whitfield and Ralph Penn.

Army To Open 4 More Camps

WASHINGTON, July 7—(P)—The army said today it will reopen four World War II training camps in connection with the planned expansion of the army in the next 12 months.

Secretary of the Army Royal said Camp Gordon, Augusta, Ga., will be used by the Fifth Division, which will move there this fall.

Fort Devens, Mass., will be reopened late this summer for the Seventh Regimental Combat Team and a regiment of light armored cavalry.

Camp Atterbury, at Columbus, Ind., will be reactivated early in 1949 for use as a center for a division to be designated later.

Camp Cook, near Lompoc, Calif., will be opened in the near future as an anti-aircraft artillery center.

In addition, a signal and engineer unit training center will be established at Fort Jackson, S. C.

1948 Sunburst, WHS Annual, Is a 'Play in Four Acts'

Washington C. H. High School students got a good look at the "1948 Sunburst"—the annual yearbook—Monday and they got even more than they expected.

Using two colors for the first time, the Sunburst was published using a theatrical setting. Arden Hill was the editor-in-chief. A theater program was inserted within the book bearing the title "Our Hearts Were Young and Gay—At Times" and the four acts (the four major divisions of the book) were listed as Producers and Directors. The Actors, the Settings, and The Heavies. The cover of deep red leather, was designed by Lora Lee Enslen, the art editor.

The prologue was a dedication reading "To one who has given his time and much of his life to guiding the steps of the students of Washington High School, we, the graduates of the Class of 1948, humbly and in deep appreciation dedicate this, the 23rd volume of the Sunburst, to Mr. Karl Jones Kay." Kay is retiring from the faculty after 27 years.

Jail on Wheels To Tour Ohio During Summer

Date of Coming Here Has Not Been Made Public

Fayette Countians will, in all probability, soon get a look at the $15,000 "jail on wheels" equipped with a jail cell and a genuine electric chair which will roll into Ohio this week as part of an information program being sponsored by the Buckeye State Sheriff's Association, and designed to prevent juvenile delinquency.

William McElroy, executive secretary of the Buckeye State Sheriff's Association said the "jail on wheels" would remain in Columbus for three days, starting July 8, and then be placed on exhibit in various sections throughout Ohio.

McElroy revealed that sheriffs in Ohio's 88 counties have been intensifying work directed at preventing or reducing juvenile delinquency.

"If we can keep the youth of our society from committing that first offense, prison and correctional officials would not have to worry so much about obtaining new facilities, which currently is one of the major problems facing prison administrators throughout the country," McElroy said.

The "jail on wheels" will be shown throughout Ohio under auspices of local sheriffs at various points within the next two months. A schedule for its appearance is now being prepared.

Designed by a pioneer in the field of crime prevention, former Sheriff J. Edward Slavin of New Haven, Conn., the "jail on wheels" has been on exhibit in various states to show that criminals never win "because modern police departments have too much scientific know-how," according to Sheriff Slavin.

Completely motorized, the unit is 33 feet long and capable of going 60 miles an hour and includes crime fighting apparatus found only in F. B. I. and police laboratories.

The electric chair carried in the vehicle is an exact duplicate of the one used at the Connecticut State Prison and at other state prisons which use that form of capital punishment.

Earlier this year, the Sheriffs' Association in cooperation with the Ohio Moose Association purchased and equipped for the State

Fayette Countians will, in all probability, soon get a look at the $15,000 "jail on wheels" equipped with a jail cell and a genuine electric chair which will roll into Ohio this week as part of an information program being sponsored by the Buckeye State Sheriff's Association, and designed to prevent juvenile delinquency.

William McElroy, executive secretary of the Buckeye State Sheriff's Association said the "jail on wheels" would remain in Columbus for three days, starting July 8, and then be placed on exhibit in various sections throughout Ohio.

McElroy revealed that sheriffs in Ohio's 88 counties have been intensifying work directed at preventing or reducing juvenile delinquency.

"If we can keep the youth of our society from committing that first offense, prison and correctional officials would not have to worry so much about obtaining new facilities, which currently is one of the major problems facing prison administrators throughout the country," McElroy said.

The "jail on wheels" will be shown throughout Ohio under auspices of local sheriffs at various points within the next two months. A schedule for its appearance is now being prepared.

Designed by a pioneer in the field of crime prevention, former Sheriff J. Edward Slavin of New Haven, Conn., the "jail on wheels" has been on exhibit in various states to show that criminals never win "because modern police departments have too much scientific know-how," according to Sheriff Slavin.

Completely motorized, the unit is 33 feet long and capable of going 60 miles an hour and includes crime fighting apparatus found only in F. B. I. and police laboratories.

Lioness Club Members Discuss New Projects At Dinner Meeting

The members of the Lioness Club met for a dinner meeting at the Washington Country Club on Tuesday evening.

The committee in charge composed of Mrs. Anna Lois Clark, chairman, capably assisted by Mrs. Eleanor French, Mrs. Florence Elliot and Mrs. Mary Foster, used a clever patriotic motif in the flower decoration in the club lounge, and in tasteful detail carried out the same colors in the tables seating the group for the tempting meal at seven o'clock.

Covers were marked with small flags attached to place cards and red, white and blue flowers centered each table.

The meeting was called to order later by the president, Mrs. Joye Seblom, and Mrs. Donna McCoy, song leader, led the group in the singing of "America" accompanied by Mrs. Gladys Partlett.

Mrs. Ann Mossbarger led in the salute to the flag and the invocation was given by Mrs. Pauline Cannon.

Birthday greetings were extended to eleven of the members by Mrs. Rose Marie Scott.

The members adopted as the club flower the yellow rose.

Communications from Mrs. Missie White and Mrs. Ada K. Minshall were read by the secretary Mrs. Mabel Mc Donald.

The club has adopted as its worthy project, transporting patients to the eye clinic in Columbus, and one was reported as be-

Philadelphia Sneaks Up Behind Cleveland A's Win, Indians Lose

By JOE REICHLER

(By the Associated Press) It can't be denied that hustle, fight and team spirit have been great factors in the amazing Philadelphia Athletics' surprising bid for the American League flag. But another reason not generally recognized, has been the clutch hitting of shortstop Eddie Joost and the steady pitching of southpaw Lou Brissie.

The bespectacled infielder and the rookie southpaw combined their talents last night to lead the A's to a 5-3 victory over the Senators in Washington, which advanced the Mackmen to within 10 percentage points of first place.

Philadelphia's victory coupled with Detroit's 9-0 triumph over the pace-setting Cleveland Indians, left the A's and Indians virtually deadlocked. However, the Indians have lost fewer games and lead .618 to .608.

Joost drove in two important runs, one with a home run which opened the game. It marked the fourth time this season that the deft leadoff hitter had opened a game with a home run.

Brissie, the muchdecorated war veteran, who pitches with a brace on his wounded left leg, was tagged for 11 hits, but struck out nine and pitched out of several tight spots to record his eighth victory. And he now leads all American League pitchers in the strikeout department with 77 whiffs to his credit.

CHAPTER THIRTY

ANDREW made a flying trip upstairs to see if Gloria was tucked in. She was crying. "I've got to leave you, but I won't be long. I'd get your mother if I could, Gloria, but there's no way of reaching her, and I'd rather go after the doctor—it's more important."

"All right," she sobbed.

"I'm leaving Joe here. He's great company. And I'll be back as soon as I can."

He dared not waste more time, and raced out to his car. It was beginning to get dark, and there was the usual evening traffic in Branfield. The one and only traffic policeman was on duty. Andrew took the road in to town at seventy miles an hour, and didn't slow down too much when he hit Main Street. He kept his hand on the horn and pushed through as fast as he could. When the policeman held up his hand and blew his whistle at him, Andrew simply went on through anyhow.

He left the town behind him and turned up the back road Miss Campbell had mentioned. Here he had to go more slowly, for it was rutted and narrow. A car came toward him with its lights on, and he swerved aside, then slammed on his brakes as it passed, and reached for the horn again. A prolonged blast brought the other car to a standstill, too. Andrew backed up.

"I've been looking for you," he began without preamble. "Just saw it was you as you passed." Dr. Torrey stared at him questioningly. "Gloria—made herself a dish with mushrooms she picked herself. She says she doesn't know one kind from another, but from what she said it sounded as if some of them had been amanitas." Dr. Torrey's face tensed. "I didn't know what else to do, so I stuck my finger down her throat, and put her to bed to keep her warm."

"Good," Dr. Torrey, he was glad to see, wasted no time. "I'll pick up a stomach pump at the hospital and be right over. Emma Potts isn't here."

"She's at the Alliance meeting."

"You pick her up. Gloria will want her. And so will I, when I have to use the pump," she added with the ghost of a smile. Without another word, she put her old car in gear and rocketed down the road at full speed.

Andrew, remembering how he had forced his way through the evening traffic in town, wisely took a couple of side streets to get to the church. Two words of explanation were all Emma Potts needed to make her drop everything and come with him. But even so, Dr. Torrey's car was already at the porch steps when they got there.

Andrew escorted Mrs. Potts upstairs, then—form of habit—opened the door to his old room, and sank into the comfortable rocker. A few moments later the

Mrs. Mabel Williams Hughes of Arlington, Tenn., national PTA president, pledged her organization to "work shoulder to shoulder" with the NEA's 440,000 members, "resolutely determined . . . that what has happened to American education cannot and must not happen again."

O'Neil declared "equality of opportunity is the fundamental basis of Democracy" and "cannot exist without equality of educational opportunities."

SPRINGFIELD — (AP)—Assistant Prosecutor Simon L. Leis today tossed in the towel in his fight to convict two admitted gamblers of bribery.

He asked Common Pleas Judge Golden C. Davis to dismiss four counts of a six-count indictment against Joe Parisi, 43, and Ralph (Cookie) Schear, 39, both of Dayton.

Then he requested the court for permission to withdraw from prosecution of the two remaining counts.

Judge Davis said he would take the requests under advisement during a court summer recess which begins July 17.

Jerome A. Nevius, 36, former Clark County prosecutor, was convicted of receiving large sums of money from Parisi and Schear and now is serving a one to 10-year term in Ohio Penitentiary.

The Dayton men, indicted in 1944, previously pleaded guilty to operating a gambling establishment in the Silver Dollar Night Club. Each paid a $12,000 fine and served 90 days in jail.

Leis, a Cincinnati who was brought here and given the job of prosecuting gamblers in Clark County, told the court today in asking dismissal of four of the bribery counts.

That the Ohio Supreme Court had said there was not sufficient evidence to sustain two counts charging that Parisi and Schear gave an automobile to Nevius:

That, on two other counts charging Parisi and Schear to have Nevius large sums of money, the courts had found there was not sufficient evidence to convict them "and I think it would be utter folly to go to trial."

In asking to withdraw from prosecution on the two counts alleging the men gave Nevius a second automobile, Leis said that if any offense was committed, it was committed in a county (Montgomery) other than Clark and that he had jurisdiction only in Clark County.

He asked the court for permission to withdraw from prosecution of the two remaining counts.

Judge Davis said he would take

the requests under advisement

during a court summer recess

which begins July 17.

Jerome A. Nevius, 36, former

Clark County prosecutor, was convicted of receiving large sums of money from Parisi and Schear and now is serving a one to 10-year term in Ohio Penitentiary.

The Dayton men, indicted in 1944, previously pleaded guilty to operating a gambling establishment in the Silver Dollar Night

Club. Each paid a $12,000 fine and served 90 days in jail.

Leis, a Cincinnati who was brought here and given the job of prosecuting gamblers in Clark

County, told the court today in asking dismissal of four of the bribery counts.

That the Ohio Supreme Court had said there was not sufficient evidence to sustain two counts charging that Parisi and Schear gave an automobile to Nevius:

That, on two other counts charging Parisi and Schear to have Nevius large sums of money, the courts had found there was not sufficient evidence to convict them

"and I think it would be utter folly to go to trial."

In asking to withdraw from prosecution on the two counts alleging the men gave Nevius a second automobile, Leis said that if any offense was committed, it was committed in a county (Montgomery) other than Clark and that he had jurisdiction only in Clark

County.

He asked the court for permission to withdraw from prosecution of the two remaining counts.

Judge Davis said he would take

the requests under advisement

during a court summer recess

which begins July 17.
